Nottingham Harmonic Choir

Since its foundation in 1856, the Nottingham Harmonic Choir, Nottingham's civic chorus, has established itself as one of the leading provincial choruses in Britain. In its early years the names of Charles Hallé and Sir Arthur Sullivan were among those associated with the chorus. At the beginning of the twentieth century its principal conductor was Henry Wood, later to become Sir Henry Wood, conductor of the first Promenade Concerts. More recently the Society has been privileged to be directed on several occasions by Laszlo Heltay, Richard Hickox, Sir Charles Groves, Sir David Willcocks and Sir Mark Elder.

Music Director Richard Laing

In April 2009 Richard Laing was appointed as Music Director. He has led the choir through exciting and widely acclaimed seasons, increasing our collaboration with Nottingham Classics resulting in several concerts with the Hallé, Sinfonia ViVa and other internationally acclaimed orchestras. Under his continued inspirational guidance, we anticipate another season of beautiful and moving choral music.

Sponsorship of the Nottingham Harmonic Choir

Have you or your company ever thought of sponsoring Nottingham Harmonic Choir concerts? Sponsorship need not involve very large amounts of money. We are looking for sponsors willing to cover the cost of certain aspects of a concert, for example, the cost of the posters, of programmes, of one or more soloists, of a section of the orchestra, or to offer support of a more general nature. We offer opportunities for Individual or Corporate Sponsorship at several levels. Each level attracts a range of benefits to the benefactor(s).

You can discuss any of our benefit packages or other opportunities with
